THE AUDITORIUM.

The pictures being offered at the Auditorium today are "Surgeon Warren's Ward," a two-act Essanay featuring Ruth Stonehouse and Richard Travers; "Distilled Spirits," a Mina comedy; "The Hair of Her Head," a Vitagraph comedy with Sidney Drew and the fifth episode of "The Exploits of Elaine," featuring Arnold Daly, Pearl White and Sheldon Lewis.

The Clutching Hand, outwitted in his last diabolical attempt on Craig Kennedy's life, has recourse to a stratagem even more fiendish in conception. Disguised as a telephone inspector, he is admitted to the Dodge home by Michael, a servant and accomplice of the Clutching Hand. He sprays Elaine's bedroom with an invisible poisoned powder and she and her dog become very ill the next morning she receives a letter that unless she dispenses with the services of Craig Kennedy the illness will result in her death.

She wires Kennedy, who, with Jameson rushes to her home. In the meantime Michael infuriated by the treatment he receives from the Clutching Hand determines to betray him. He makes an appointment to meet Kennedy at a cheap hotel and when he is about to say the word that will deliver the Clutching Hand into Kennedy's power, he is slain by a poisoned blow-gun dart wrapped around with another warning to Craig Kennedy. Elaine at home is startled by a stone crashing through her window onto her bed, wrapped with another threatening message from the Clutching Hand. Elaine implores Kennedy to give up the search but he refuses.

On tomorrow's bill are "Dear Old Girl," a two-act Essanay with Francis Bushman and Beverly Bayne; "The Siege of Liege," a Mina cartoon comedy; "By a Strange Road," an Essanay; part two of "The Fates and Flora Fourflush," entitled "The Treasure Temple of Boshoh," and the Fatale daily news.

"A PAIR OF SIXES"

The red headed office boy in that laughable farce, "A Pair of Sixes," which comes to the Oliver Saturday matinee and Sunday night, is playing a part on the stage that he actually played in real life. Clarence Newcombe is his name, and before "A Pair of Sixes" was produced by H. H. Frazee, he was the office boy in Mr. Frazee's office in the Long-acre theater, New York. With his boss he went to see a rehearsal of that farce one day before it was produced in New York and Mr. Frazee asked the red headed one what he thought of the play.

"The play is all right but that guy that plays that office boy is rotten," said the red headed one. "What is the matter with him?" asked Frazee remembering that wisdom sometimes flows from the mouth of babes.

"What ain't the matter with him?" asked the boy. "He ain't there with the office boy stuff—that's all that's wrong with him."

It did not take Frazee long to realize that when it came to criticizing office boys he had a champion critic right in his own office. The actor playing the role was let go and another one substituted. The office boy critic was called in again to pass judgment.

"That poor simp is worse than the other one," said the critic.

"Well, I know what we'll do," said Frazee. "You will have to play the role and then we will have it right."

"But, boss, I ain't no ham fatter," said Red.

"You don't have to be," said Frazee. "All you have to do is to play yourself. What we want is a fresh office boy and the Lord knows you are as fresh as they come."

That is how Clarence Newcombe jumped from office boy to a good paying job on the stage.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Beginning Thursday the Orpheum will offer a new bill of novelty vaudeville acts headed by the sensational dancer, Princess Ka. This clever artist presents an act in three parts, first a native Spanish type; second, "The Birth of Springtime," and third, "The Mystery of the Nile," with a series of oriental numbers that include the dance of the Cobra, the dance of the Cymbals and the Egyptian scarf dance. The princess carries an elaborate wardrobe, in some of the dances and until the finale holds a surprise in store for the audience.

Webb and Burns, known as the Italian minstrels, offer a high class musical turn with enough good comedy to enliven the act. The LeGrohs are billed as a European novelty act and the Seymour duo are first class singers and dancers. Miss Seymour impersonates Anna Held cleverly. Jetter and Rogers are comedy skaters and dancers.

"ROSEMARY"

"Rosemary," the comedy by Louis N. Parker and Murray Carson revived by Charles Frohman at the Empire theater, New York recently, as a medium for John Drew, enjoyed at the time of its original production several years ago a run then considered little less than remarkable. Mr. Drew was first seen as Sir Jasper Thorndyke in August and played the role in New York continuously for 22 weeks. That the delightful comedy has lost none of

DON'T USE SOAP ON YOUR HAIR

When you wash your hair don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulled coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and heats up or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub about the tea-spoonful of oil all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Its quaint charm or humor is proved by the success attending the revival. Mr. Drew, who is to be here in the play at the Oliver Tuesday, Feb. 9, has been surrounded by Mr. Frohman with a distinguished company, including Alexandra Carlisle, the noted English actress and beauty; Mrs. Thomas Whiffin, Harry Harwood, Hubert Druce and Frances Landy.

AT THE LASALLE.

When Paul Armstrong wrote "The Deep Purple" it started the wave of what is known as "crook" plays that have been very popular in the best theaters in the country. His insight into the mysterious workings of the underworld made him particularly capable of writing of these interesting, though seldom seen characters. In selecting his cast for motion picture production of the play Mr. Armstrong was particularly fortunate in securing Clara Kimball Young to play the part of the innocent country girl, Doris Moore, who falls into the hands of the city thieves. W. J. Ferguson, a capable actor, has the prominent role of "Pop" Clark, the chief crook, and he puts a touch of comic character drawing in his work that provides good relief. The backgrounds represent a New Jersey town and New York city. A comedy picture, as also shown, "When the Mummy Cried for Help."

AT THE MAJESTIC.

The new bill at the Majestic Thursday is entitled, "Spooks." It deals with the colored man's fear of ghosts and the funmaking is of the boisterous sort. Many song numbers are introduced including, "The Ghost of the Goblin Man," by Lora Lorraine; "Don't You Wish You Were Back Home Again," by Eddie Burns; "The Violin My Grandfather Used to Play," by Lou Mathews, and "Bring Two Lips Along," by Phyllis Ellis. Other singing and dancing specialties will be introduced by Helen Durfor, Eddie Wright and Jeanette Marsh.

AT THE SURPRISE.

"The Speed King" an auto racing story in two reels holds the feature position at the Surprise today. There is position, money and a beautiful girl at stake and the handsome hero wins, making a perfect picture. Corrairie drama is also shown, "The Spirit of Giving," from the Beauty studio.

AT THE COLONIAL.

A story of the love for gold that makes a man's life is told at the Colonial today in "The Midas of the Desert." A beautiful girl is neglected by her miserly father, who dies for the sake of his worldly treasures but the man she loves proves true. Happy ending. "Probation," a story of a bad boy, with a good moral is shown.

GROUND HOG FAILS TO SEE HIS SHADOW

Leaves His Winter Home For Good and Early Spring is Now the Prospect.

Old Man Ground Hog refused to be interviewed on the weather for the coming six weeks when approached by a News-Times representative Tuesday afternoon. He was discovered just coming out of his house after his long retirement, but was in such a hurry to get to the task that is assigned to him every year that he waved all of those wishing interviews with him aside.

His subsequent actions were mysterious. Starting off in a jaunty stride towards the street, he was seen to hesitate, glance all around him as if in search of something which he had dropped out of his pocket, and hurried away.

At midnight, watchers reported that he had not returned home and that people of the neighborhood denied any knowledge of his presence. It is thought that he will be absent for at least six weeks, with the possibility that he will not return home until some time next fall.

To many who have more faith in the old home-made ways of foretelling the weather than they have in the predictions made by the expert weather guessers hired by the government, Mr. Ground Hog's strange actions are indicative that the next six weeks will be balmy and pleasant.

JUDGE FUNK CHARGES GRAND JURY TUESDAY

Men Go Into Session at Once—Few Cases of Extraordinary Interest to Come up.

Judge Funk charged the grand jury at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and they went at once into session. F. W. Kerr of Mishawaka is foreman of the jury and Richard Doherty is the bailiff. The other members of the jury are Ross Bennett, New Carlisle; E. V. Russ, Clay township; A. Linsemler, Clay; Elmer Whitmer, German, and F. M. Barrows, Penn.

The charge to the jury involved nothing of an unusual nature. There is said to be little of more than ordinary importance to come before the body. The jury will consider the charge against J. H. Quilhot of operating as a detective without a license and also the charges against candidates in the recent election who failed to file their expense accounts.

SUE ON NOTE.

Suit has been brought in the circuit court by the St. Joseph Loan & Trust Co. against Samuel H. King and others to collect $650 alleged to be due on a note. A similar suit has been brought by the same plaintiff against Louis M. Mucha and others to collect $500.

RECIPES TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

By a Specialist.

A very satisfactory preparation which darkens gray hair and acts as a corrective agent for dandruff and other diseases of the scalp can be made at small expense and in your own home by dissolving a small box of Barbo Compound in 7 ounces of water and then adding an ounce of bay rum and a quarter ounce of glycerine. Any drug store can furnish these ingredients. This is to be applied once a week until the hair is sufficiently darkened, then every two weeks to keep the hair soft and glossy, and the scalp in a healthy condition. It may be used with equal success in darkening the beard. This is a preparation that gives splendid results, both as a hair darkener and a remedy for all scalp disorders, and is well worthy of a trial. You will find it far superior to the ordinary store preparations and much less expensive.

PERMANENT OWNERSHIP FAVORED BY PRESIDENT

Is Opposed to Purchase of Interned Ships of Any of the Belligerents.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3. — President Wilson Tuesday informed Sens. Kenyon and Norris, republican progressives, who visited the white house by special invitation, that he would welcome their support of the ship purchase bill upon the basis of permanent government ownership.

The president is quoted as having told these senators that he favored this permanent policy from the outset, but that he had been persuaded to accept a compromise as the only way of getting the bill through. He agreed, also, to their demands that the bill should carry a specific prohibition against the purchase of interned ships of any belligerents. This, he was quoted as saying, had also been in his mind when this proposition was first broached.

The situation in the senate Tuesday was completely reversed. While the republicans were at home Tuesday night peacefully sleeping and recuperating democrats were staying up until the early morning hours attempting to reconcile their differences in a party caucus.
